

Elise Mosca, your partner in finding meaningful love with Atoutcoeurs Belgium.

"I believe that life is a journey towards becoming the best version of ourselves, both physically and mentally. As an osteopath, health coach and Traditional Chinese Medicine practitioner, I support my patients and those around me on their path towards greater overall well-being.

As I believe that love and authentic relationships are an essential part of personal fulfilment, I reached out to Claire Mottart, founder of Atoutcoeurs, with the desire to add a complementary dimension to my professional activities and to work alongside a reputable and dedicated matchmaking agency.

Drawing on my natural empathy, my understanding of human nature, my ability to listen, and my multilingual skills (French, English, Italian and German), I will do everything I can to foster meaningful connections that truly reflect each person's aspirations."
