

Nathalie Goethals, partner of your sentimental success for the Atoutcoeurs Agency.

Coming from a family of freelancers, I have created and developed boutiques for more than 20 years. Pampering my customers was obvious to me, and my taste for sales gradually turned into a passion for human relations.

After a divorce, I searched for love; but despite all the internet tools at our disposal, finding the right partner was very complicated.

So I decided to learn more about the springs of love and the psychology of couples and trained in love coaching and marriage counseling. Before joining the Atoutcoeurs agency ...

Today, I propose to accompany you with kindness in your sentimental project and to help you connecting with people who correspond to you and who share the same values.
